Alluring Quality Craftsmanship: Click Builders

A large part of being a truly successful custom builder is being able to interpret and conceptualize the desires and needs of the buyer.

"We always remember that it is not our house we are building, but yours," says Kenny Click, owner of Click Builders. "Having a home built can be an exciting and delightful experience. We combine your criteria, thoughts and dreams with our product knowledge and construction expertise."

Click Builders is well-known and well-respected in Amarillo's building community for using flair and imagination. Click Builders puts all the components into a working plan. There is no charge to visit with Click Builders and explore possibilities.

In addition to building quality custom homes, Click Builders typically has spec homes available for sale as well – like one at 8016 Oxford in Westover Village. An open kitchen, dining and living area is the main focal point of the garden home. A wood burning fireplace accents the living area. The home also has three bedrooms (or study), two baths and a two car garage. Some of the amenities are granite tops in the kitchen, stainless steel appliances, ceramic tiled floors and a brick/stone exterior.

Kenny Click brings 30 years of extensive experience and a solid reputation into his homes. He is a life director for the Texas Association of Builders and a life national director for the National Association of Home Builders. When you call Click Builders, you'll discover a solid foundation on which to build your dreams.
